"Manners Maketh The Man"

Over the doorway of one of the old colleges of England are inscribed the words: "Manners maketh the man."

It is not how the man is dressed, but what he himself really is, that is the measure of his worth.

This applies equally well to Watches bearing the "BIRKS" name.

Although they may only be dressed in cases of Sterling Silver, they are quite as reliable timekeepers—their manners are quite as good as though clothed in cases of solid gold.

In our large stock of Gentlemen's Wrist Watches we have a complete assortment in Sterling Silver cases, ranging in price from $15.00 to $50.00, and in solid gold from $30.00 to $100.00.

As Fine and Accurate as a Beautiful Watch

In the fineness of the work—in the perfection of every detail of designing, and shaping, and putting together of the individual parts—a Fit-Reform garment closely resembles an expensive watch. The accuracy of the watch depends on the perfection of the hidden parts. So with a Fit-Reform garment.

The intricate hand tailoring of the parts you do not see, makes possible the perfection of fit, the long wear, the elegant appearance of Fit-Reform Suits and Overcoats.

NOVEL IDEA TO BE TRIED BY PLAYERS

Montreal Company To Use Old Redpath Hall.

SEVERAL PRODUCTIONS

Consideration Will Be Given
McGill Students Desiring To Attend.

According to the pamphlet lately issued by the Committee of the Community Players of Montreal, announcement is made of a series of five dramatic productions to be given during the 1920-21 season at the old Redpath Hall, kindly loaned to the "Players," for their praiseworthy purpose by the University authorities.

The first production will be given on five consecutive evenings commencing Tuesday, November 2nd, 1920, at 8.30 p.m. They have selected for their premiere the somewhat "baroque," "The Pigeon," of Mr. Galsworthy. As the writer is rather in the dark concerning this effort or else it is very new, his comment, criticism or appreciation of their choice would be of little weight.

Each succeeding piece will also be given for five successive nights. The second of the series will begin on Tuesday, December 7th, giving these serious amateurs a little more than a month to work up a triple effort, consisting of George Bernard Shaw's "The Little Stone House"—a play of Russia, which has equally and, perhaps naturally, an unfamiliar sound; a one-act comedy of Montreal, as it is called, by Mr. J. E. Hoare, one of the members of the Committee, too, which should, for all purposes fall in well with Sir Andrew MacPhail's latest dicta relative to civilization home acquired plus a saner and more pleasant appreciation of art—not Art—with-out pose and consequent affectation, or is it vice-versa?

The triptych will be completed by Lord Dunsany's "The Glittering Gate," about which comment is unnecessary on the same grounds as to the first-named, "The Pigeon."

The other remaining three plays will be announced in January, February and March respectively.

In the same pamphlet there then follows the interesting if unnecessary to the interested, "Apologia":

The Community Players of Montreal have been organized for the following purposes:

1.—To provide facilities for the production of dramatic works of the highest order, such as are rarely produced by travelling companies under the existing commercial system.

In addition to the works already selected, the committee have under consideration, apart from classical works, other plays by such representative dramatists as Granville Barker, John Galsworthy, St. John Ervine, Sir James Barrie, St. John Hankin, Lord Dunsany, John Synge, Lady Gregory, George Bernard Shaw, Maeterlinck, Henri Batulle, and other leading British and Continental authors.

2.—To provide facilities for the production of dramatic works of the highest order, such as are rarely produced by travelling companies under the existing commercial system.

PROFS. TO BATTLE FOR GOLF HONORS

Annual Tournament To Be Held On Oct. 15th.

The annual golf tournament between professors and students is to be held on October 15th.

Sir William Peterson and Dr. Rutten were the principal organizers of this tournament in 1908. The custom of having a golf match between professors and students has been carried out for six years previous to the war, and was revived last year along with other competitive sports which suffered during it.

The game of golf is one in which men of almost any age can participate—the champion of last year being a man over sixty. It affords professors and students an opportunity of getting together in a good sport.

In the past, as a rule, the professors have shown themselves superior to their younger opponents, but on one occasion the students triumphed over their seniors, on another they tied the score.

The games will be held at the Dixie golf links, as in the past, and the match should prove interesting and successful. It has been the custom

SWIMMERS TO HOLD ANOTHER TRYOUT TODAY

Everyone Requested To Turn Out At Central Y.

LAST CHANCE.

Yesterday's Practice Showed Promising Material.

If the first practice can give any indication for the season, the Swimming Club seems assured of a successful year. At the first turnout held last night, an exceptionally large number of new men were on hand. But the executive are certain that there are many more men in the college who could make as good a showing if they would only come out and try. Especial efforts should be made this year to win the Intercollegiate championship for McGill, as last year we were unsuccessful in this line.

The executive also wishes to strongly emphasize the fact that tonight's practice at the Central Y. M. C. A., at 5.30, is the last opportunity for those who have hopes of making the team. Besides the new men, those who were on hand yesterday, and wish another chance, should also put in an appearance. It is quite possible that some or all of them will be able to better their time sufficiently to place them on the list of possibles.

In the swimming and diving particularly there are many new contestants for honors, some of whom will provide new competition with the older members of the team. The word "new" should not be taken to mean "fresh" in every case, for several old timers have recently discovered their latent ability in the aquatic line. Of the men who turned out yesterday, particular mention may be made of the following: Melien, Brisbane, Evans, Chesley, Binns, Rorke, Rooker, Bastable, Wade, Alward, Desbarats, Owens, Kingsmill. These men made good time in the swimming, and some displayed considerable form in fancy diving.

Of last year's polo team, Fish, Parsons and Laidy were down. Practically all of the old men are still at the University, so that another champion aggregation should be formed this year. The newcomers to this branch of the club, Rooker, Bastable, Wade, Schultz, Willis, Owens and CLUB DANCES.

At the last meeting of the Students' Council it was resolved that "all clubs desiring to hold dances in the Union during the coming year must make application to the secretary of the Students' Council, giving all information, before the 15th of October."

Club executives are asked to govern themselves accordingly as no applications for dances will be considered after the date mentioned.

RUGBY SQUAD ARE TO MEET M.A.A.A. TEAM

Plans Complete For Thanksgiving Day Game.

A HARD GAME.

Pringle Seath and Joe Gilhooley Will Be On Opponents' Side.

Old McGill will meet their local rivals in the Rugby spotlight on Thanksgiving Day, when the M. A. A. team will travel up to the Molson Memorial Stadium to play with them. The game is attracting unusual interest for an exhibition contest, and it is expected that a record attendance for any athletic meet in the city will be at the game.

As many will remember, the M. A. A. team were returned victors in the Interprovincial League last year, and there was a great agitation for a game between them and McGill, intercollegiate champions. Examinations were pretty close, and the weather was wintry, so the game was called off. There was no doubt in the minds of the McGill men about what the result of the game would have been had it been played, but it was difficult to make the members of the Peel Street organization see things from our point of view.

Unfortunately, the teams cannot be lined up with the same players in uniform as would have been seen in uniform. If anything, M.A.A.A. has profited by the year's delay, as they have several new men in uniform, while McGill has lost several of her stellar players.

Lined up against their Alma Mater will be Pringle Seath and Joe Gilhooley of the Red and White championship team last season. Both of them were given their parchments last spring, and are now playing on the Westmount grounds.

If the men keep going at the speed they are using at present up at the practices, it may be necessary for the M.A.A.A. team to send for more reinforcements. Some of the players are getting peeved about the reports of the team's weaknesses and they are out to show the world that they are too tough for easy eating. After next Saturday they will give a better opinion of what to expect at the Thanksgiving Day game.

The final arrangements about the game were made at a conference between the two clubs last night, and it was decided that the contest would begin at 2.30 o'clock on the afternoon of Thanksgiving Day, Monday, October 18th.

The rules under which the game will be played will be those in use in the Intercollegiate and Big Four schedules. In cases where there are differences between the rules of the two leagues, they will be adjusted by mutual agreement. Each club will be allowed to keep as many men as they please in uniform on the bench, but only twenty men will be allowed in the game. This means that each squad will be allowed to use six spares during the contest.

PROF. HARKNESS TO SUCCEED DR. MOYSE

Will Be Acting-Dean For the Coming Session.

Professor James Harkness, Head of the Department of Mathematics, has accepted the acting-deanship of the Faculty of Arts. Ever since the close of last session when Dr. Moyses resigned the deanship the Faculty has been without a head. As a consequence of delays inevitably arising from the installation of a new executive head of the University it was found impossible to make any permanent appointment as yet. Professor Harkness has consented to undertake the direction of the Faculty business for the present session.

Professor Harkness has been very much to the fore in the affair of the Arts Faculty. He is at present the Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Studies and has for many years been an active member of the B.A. Advisory Committee and the Scholarships and Exhibitions Committee. As a consequence of this it is universally felt that the new acting-dean is eminently qualified to guide, even if only for a short time, the destinies of so complex an organization as the Arts Faculty.

THE GOLF TOURNAMENT

The announcement that the customary golf tournament between members of the faculty and students will be held shortly is one that is calculated to turn the mind of the intelligent thinker towards the subject "Relations between undergraduates and professors at McGill." This annual contest seems to be the only one in which the staff, in a spirit of friendly rivalry, meets the students and does its best to show them that their instructors are by no means lacking in athletic skill.

No doubt, it is but natural that the game chosen for the exhibition of skill should be golf. The royal game is one at which the man of middle age can frequently make good use of his experience and steadiness to defeat a younger and perhaps more brilliant, but erratic, player. It is noteworthy that the records of the contest show an unbroken line of victories for the professors, so that this year's representatives of the undergraduates have a hard task before them. It does not seem to be any particular reason, though, why the competition should be forced to confine itself to this lone manifestation during the college year. A debate, for instance, while it might be hopelessly one-sided, might provide a great deal of amusement, and at the same time foster a rapprochement between faculty and students that could result only in good to both parties. We are glad to receive any suggestions pertinent to the question of our readers.

LET US RECIPROCATE

It is impossible to over-emphasize the part which our advertisers play in making the publication of the "Daily" a success. To put it plainly, if there were no advertisements there could be no "Daily." This year particularly, those who advertise in our columns are making a direct contribution towards ensuring us a good financial year and it is in our own best interests to see that this patronage is continued and extended.

To do so we rely upon the co-operation of every reader of these pages. With our present large enrolment there is a considerable amount of money spent by McGill students in the retail stores of the city every day. Seldom, however, does it occur to a purchaser to tell the merchant that he saw his advertisement in the college newspaper and acted upon it. If, however, he realized that by so doing he was enhancing the merchant's opinion of the value of a "Daily" ad., he might be persuaded to mention that he "saw it in the 'Daily'."

We make a special appeal to all McGill men to purchase wherever possible from "Daily" advertisers. A little friendly reciprocity of this nature will go far towards convincing prospective advertisers of the selling-value of "Daily" advertisements, and will thereby help to ensure a satisfactory financial status for our college newspaper.

EDITORIAL NOTE

To-night the freshman years in Arts, Medicine, Dentistry and Theology are to be the guests of the McGill "Y" at Strathcona Hall. These annual functions are amongst the most popular of the year, affording as they do an opportunity for the new men to become acquainted, both with their fellow-classesmen and the full meaning of college activities. Every freshman should make a point of turning out to-night and finding out for himself the brand of entertainment which is provided for him at the "Hall."

BADGE RULES.

Every year there is some trouble about the use of non-regulation uniforms and crests about the campus and stadium. The trouble is only with the freshmen, who are ignorant of the regulations concerning the use of "foreign" badges.

It is only natural that the freshmen should be proud of the prep. school from which they have graduated, but, once they have become students at McGill, they are bound by regulation to wear no other crest but that of Old McGill.

The ruling concerning the use of badges is as follows:
"The promiscuous use of non-regulation uniforms and the wearing of 'foreign' badges on the campus, or at any University athletic contest, is prohibited, and if this offence be persisted in after due warning, such offender may be debarred from participation in University athletics until reinstated by the Athletic Association."

Correspondence

The "Daily" is not responsible for the sentiments of letters published in the correspondence columns. Signed communications from graduates, undergraduates and members of the faculties will be placed in print if they are not of too great length.

Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office — that they write upon ONE side of the paper ONLY.

No communications will be admitted in this column without the name of the writer being attached, not necessarily for PUBLICATION.

To the Editor, McGill "Daily."
Sir,—
I cannot refrain from reference to the effusion of one "Spartacus" which appeared in your issue of the 6th inst.

The injustice of such an attack upon the staff and editorial policy of the "Daily" indicates either a total ignorance of the facts of the case or an invidious desire to deliberately accord such facts as implication which is entirely foreign to them.

The ostensible reason for the attack is of course the publication of the series of "Forewords from Prominent Men at McGill," which as a matter of custom was published in your initial issue.

I believe that the purpose underlying the solicitation of these short paragraphs has been, and is, that the heads of the various Faculties, etc., and of principal student institutions may have an opportunity of outlining in a brief inspirational manner the prospects for the ensuing session. The line of thought and sentiments expressed are matters left entirely to the discretion of the contributor.

The implication that certain more or less laudatory expressions were directly solicited by the "Daily" is, I think I am safe in saying, not more absurd than it is false.

I readily appreciate the significance of "Spartacus" condemnation of the "Daily" on the ground of lack of independence.

The fact that editorial policy, in recognizing and calling attention to the essentials of law and order, respectability and decency, has accorded with the asserted opinion of our university authorities (on one memorable occasion in particular) and thereby raised a storm of outlandish protest from one definite quarter will in all probability account for the present charge of lack of ability to stand alone.

However, had "Spartacus" left me some more tangible clue as to his actual identity I would be in a much better position to calculate how much in the way of "backbone" the "Daily" would be likely to acquire as a result of his proffered "co-operation."

Such "co-operation" on the part of certain disgruntled individuals is nothing new in the history of the "Daily." In fact it is something with which those who are giving freely of their time and effort in order to the maintenance of one of our most important undergraduate institutions, have ever had to contend.

Very truly yours,
A. F. SMITH.

To the Editor, McGill "Daily."
Sir,—
It was with a great deal of surprise and indignation that I and some of my class-mates have read this morning's "Daily," and saw there the letter signed by "Spartacus." I should think that if this gentleman has anything to say against the official paper of McGill he ought to come out openly with his true name, and not hide behind a nom-de-plume.

"Spartacus" seems to be looking for something to find fault with, otherwise he might have waited until the "Daily" printed an article against which he might have reasonably directed an attack. From my point of view, the "Forewords" that appeared in the "Daily" could not be regarded as "booster" (to quote Spartacus' inelegant phrase), indeed most of them scarcely mentioned the paper.

What is wanted among the students just now is a spirit of tolerance and co-operation, not a foolish desire to find fault. If "Spartacus" sees anything in the "Daily" with which he does not agree, let him tell the student body how to improve it, then we might listen to him.

Thanking you for your valuable space,
I am,
Yours truly,
HENRI BEAUCHOIX,
Law '22.

To the Editor, McGill "Daily."
Sir,—
May I say a word in answer to "Spartacus" whose letter appeared in the "Daily" of yesterday morning. If this gentleman had taken half as much trouble and care reading the "Forewords" which appeared in our first issue as he did criticising us for soliciting them his letter would never have been written.

For his benefit let me say that for many years past the "Daily" has featured in the first issue of the session, "Forewords from Prominent Men." These are not intended as a boost for the "Daily" nor for any other college organization, but are meant to be messages from the deans and others of renown at McGill to the student body.

In our issue of Monday eight "Forewords" appeared and in only ONE of these was the "Daily" mentioned. Bearing this in mind the impartiality

GOLF.

The annual golf match between Students and Professors is held on the morning of Sports' Day, Oct. 15th. In the past the Professors have usually shown themselves the superior of the less-experienced Students, but it is thought that this can be overcome by better organization this year.

It is desired that all Students who wish to play in this match should submit to the "Daily" office their name together with their handicaps both match and medal, or an approximation of the same on regulation links, with the name of the links.

The team will then be chosen and published some days ahead of the date of the match.

Names should please be submitted at an early date. The list will close on Monday evening, Oct. 11th.

SWIMMING CLUB.

There will be another tryout at the Y.M.C.A. bath this afternoon at 5.30. Any who intend trying for the swimming or polo teams and did not turn out last night must turn out to-night. After this week any men who have not satisfied the officials of the clubs of their ability will not be admitted to the bath during the club's hours unless they give the officials good excuses for not turning out this week. Come early and avoid the rush!

DOUGLAS SOCIAL.

Next Monday evening, Oct. 11th, at 8 p.m., a social is being held in the church parlors of Douglas Methodist Church, corner of St. Catherine and Chomedey streets. McGill students are especially invited to join in the evenings fun and you will receive a hearty welcome from the McGill chaps who are regular attendants there, as well as from the young ladies. Keep this date open then, and come and get acquainted.

GOOD OPENING FOR WOULD-BE FENCERS

Manipulators Of the Foil To Meet On Friday.

The fencing section of the B. W. and F. have announced their intention of commencing operations for the season at an early date. With this purpose in view, a general meeting has been called for Friday, the 8th, at 5 p.m., in the Union.

Last season some dozen men received instruction from the well-known local amateur, Mr. John Long. Two of the men who had previous experience in the use of the foil were considered sufficiently trained to take places on the B. W. and F. team from McGill which took part in the Inter-collegiate Assault-at-Arms in Kingston.

There is a good opening this year for those desirous of taking up fencing from the beginning, or of again taking up the threads of anything they may have done before in the line. Fencing is recognized by the Physical Education authorities as a regular branch of athletics, so that those who take a regular part in it may, if they wish, obtain exemption from the regular gymnasium work. The B. W. and F. provides a splendid opening for those who are unable to take part in major athletics on the track or football field.

It will be necessary at Friday's meeting to elect a representative to the B. W. and F. executive. Friday afternoon should see a good turnout both of novices and "sourdoughs."

The common adage does not live in captivity. It starves itself to death in a period of six to nine months as a rule.

It is the part of a wise man to keep himself to-day for to-morrow, and not to venture all his eggs in the same basket.

TRACK CLUB HELD MEETING LAST NIGHT

Coach Van Wagner Gives Some Good Advice.

MED. EXAM. REQUIRED.

Intercollegiate Meet Will Probably Be Held on the 22nd.

The first meeting of the Track Club was held at 5.30 last night in the reading room of the Union. About thirty-five enthusiasts turned out.

R. L. Hamilton, president of the club, was in the chair. J. C. Hay read the minutes of the last meeting, which were adopted. Incidentally, in this record appears a note on the excellent showing the club members made in the Olympic preliminaries this summer, expressing the appreciation of the club of the work of Farthing, King, Dickie, Hamilton, Johnson, Antliffe, Kennedy, Flanagan, on the team, and that of "Dad" Lamb, Jimmie Lallane and Jack O'Brien, as well as the M.A.A.A. executive, as assistants.

Hamilton emphasized the medical examination which is compulsory for all students who contemplate taking up any form of competitive athletics. No upper year men are exempt from this examination, and examination at a previous session does not give immunity from it. Under article 3 of the constitution of the Athletic Association, 1920: Medical Examinations. 1 (g) "No student shall be permitted to participate in any form of competitive athletics unless having been previously examined during the session, under penalty of forfeiting any insignia that he may have won, and of being debarred from participation in all University athletics until reinstated by the executive of the Athletic Association, and a two-thirds vote shall be necessary for such reinstatement." The examination for all who wish to take part in the Freshman-Sophomore meet, Saturday, will be held in Molson Hall, between five and six to-night.

There must be no breaking of the training rules during preparation for the intercollegiate meet. Every man must do his best. No smoking.

The intercollegiate meet will probably be held on the 22nd.

There is to be a training table for those men chosen to represent McGill at the meet, but for those men who are taking part in competitive athletics outside this meet Coach Wagner will give directions as to diet and sleeping hours during training.

Every year in every faculty in the University is asked to remember that in electing its executive for the year it must also elect a representative on the Track Club, as it is entitled to such representation.

Coach Van Wagner followed Hamilton on the floor. He asked each man to watch his own condition. It is not possible for the coach to attend personally to every man's needs.

Keep regular hours. Sleep enough. DO NOT OVEREAT. This is especially essential for men who intend to run. Eat plain and wholesome food, avoiding fats, fried meats, condiments and tea and coffee. The question of "to smoke or not to smoke" is up to every man individually. And for the love of Mike, if you must smoke, don't hide to do it. Do it openly.

As for tryouts for the intercollegiate meet and the barriers, there will be a tryout Friday, and men will be observed at the Freshman-Sophomore meet, Saturday, the 9th, and at the University sports on the 15th.

Men working out at the stadium will please remember to KEEP THEIR LIMBS COVERED. It is dangerous to expose your limbs in this weather.

Especially, DON'T FORGET THE MEDICAL EXAMINATION or you will not be allowed to participate in the meets.

STUDENT DROWNED.

Pedro Marconelli, 19 year old son of a wealthy Peruvian copper mine owner, and a student at McGill was drowned on the 9th of July in Cross Lake, near Cobalt, Ont. The young man had been out in a canoe which was later found capsized in the lake.

TENNIS PLAYERS PRACTISING HARD

Many At Courts Yesterday
Working For Places On University Team.

Yesterday afternoon was the first real workout that the tennis squad has had since the opening of college. The courts were crowded from two o'clock till 5.30, and many were unable to get a game owing to the fact that there were so many present. The most encouraging feature of the play was the number of freshmen who appeared to try for places on the team. Amongst these was some excellent material which makes our chances for winning the Intercollegiate Championship look very bright.

The executive of the club have decided to leave the entries for the tournament open until Friday afternoon. In order to give members as much chance as possible to obtain practice before the preliminary round begins. The draw for the tournament will be posted up at the club house on Saturday morning, in order that the games may be started on that day. There are already thirty entries for the tournament, so there will be a great many games to be played off. It is absolutely necessary that these games be played as soon as possible, as the season is so short, there is no saying when the bad weather may start.

The players who enter the tournament must all be medically examined before they play any games. Notice of the time for these examinations are given in the "Daily." Membership tickets must be held by all those who play, and the 50 cent entrance fee must also be paid.

Several games were played in the elimination contest for the team yesterday, and enabled one to form an idea of whose chances are brightest for making the trip to Toronto on the 19th. The results of these games are given below:

Douglas vs. Sessenwein. Douglas, 6-1, 6-4.

Snyder vs. Fraser. Snyder, 6-4, 6-0.

Woolard vs. Macklaier. Woolard, 6-2, 6-0.

Tomalin vs. Bickford. Bickford, 6-4, 6-0.

Parker vs. Macfarlane. Parker, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2.

McTaggart vs. Carlyle. Carlyle, 6-0, 6-4.

The game between Sessenwein and Douglas was the fastest of the lot. Both played good tennis but Douglas was the more accurate of the two. Carlyle showed good form, beating McTaggart comparatively easily. The latter is badly out of practice, not having played all summer. Woolard by playing a steady and fast game had little trouble with Macklaier.

All the members of the executive of the club are requested to meet at the club house this afternoon at 5 o'clock, as important business is to be discussed.

LARGE ENTRY FOR FRESH-SOPH MEET

Expected Last Day Will Bring In Many Applications.

Entries for the Freshman-Sophomore meet will close to-morrow at noon. The list has grown during the past few days until quite a number have registered on the sheets at the desk in the Union hall and up at the stadium.

It has been noticed, however, that whereas the Freshmen have the larger number of entries on the lists, the Sophomores have a large number of men training at the stadium. This would give the impression that they intend to put in a large number of entries at the last moment, as happened in a similar meet a few years ago. However, with the enthusiasm shown by the first year men, they will have to work hard to come out on top.

It must be understood by the men who are just coming up to college that every student is a member of the track club and entitled to all of the privileges a membership entails. Anyone wishing to turn out need only go up to the stadium and don his running suit. For the use of competitors in the weight events, a shot hammer and discus is provided, while poles are available for men who wish to turn out for the pole vault.

The executive of the Track Club is very anxious that any intending to enter the Freshman-Sophomore meet should enter immediately, as it is impossible to make the necessary arrangements for the meet unless they know how many men may be expected to turn out. It is a simple matter to write a name on the entry list, and it will be the means of saving the track officials of a great amount of trouble. Of course, it is understood that only men entered for the meet will be allowed to compete.

On the showing of the competitors in the meet the coach will make his first selection of the squad to be put to work as probable members of the Varsity team. Any man who gives promise of being able to do well in a larger meet will be taken under the wing of the coach and carefully trained in every way.

MANY FAMOUS STADIA BUILT IN AMERICA

None Compare With Circus
Maximus Of Rome.

McGILL'S ADVANTAGES

Interesting Information Regarding This Branch of College Architecture.

The Percival Molson Stadium has a natural situation that would be hard to equal anywhere. Built on the slope of Mount Royal, it commands a view of the St. Lawrence River and the mountains to the south, with the city spread out like a panorama in the foreground.

The choice of the location was a most fortunate one. The slope of the mountain provided an admirable foundation for the concrete work, and the field only required to be levelled off. In the construction of the majority of stadia, foundations had to be laid for the concrete structure, and a great deal of filling in and leveling off was required for the field. The mountain provides a shield from the glare of the sun, and thereby eliminates a very unpleasant feature of most games.

The stadium on the University of Washington campus in Seattle is unique in several ways. It was financed in a remarkable way. Seats were sold for periods ranging from two to five years, each purchaser receiving an indestructible plaque entitling him to admission for that period. It is also situated in a scenic position, with Lake Washington in front and the Cascade Range in the distance.

The stadium is hollow beneath, with space for dressing rooms, etc., and twenty-eight runways will provide access to the seats at midway points, so that spectators may go either up or down to their seats. The arcade beneath the structure will be provided with eighty-six bays, where bronze plaques may be placed commemorating events which take place on the field.

The Seattle stadium is 630 by 665 feet, and is of Tudor Gothic architecture.

The Yale Bowl, another famous stadium, is a complete oval, 830 by 930 feet, covering 12 1/2 acres of ground. The concrete is pierced by thirty reinforced concrete tunnels, giving access to the seats.

The Palmer Memorial Stadium, of Princeton, is designed like an arcade, with seventy-two foot towers at the curved ends. It is provided with 26 runways.

The Harvard Stadium is a massive imposing erection, suggesting Roman influence in its architecture. The outer wall is 53 feet high, with two tiers of Roman arches and piers, separated by a molded belt course and surmounted by a parapet with massive cornice. It is 570 by 420 feet in measurement.

The Tacoma Stadium, of Washington, is a municipal undertaking for High School athletic contests, and for entertaining speakers. It is the only stadium of any size west of the Mississippi, with the exception of the new Stadium of Seattle.

Stadia to be Constructed.	Capacity	Cost
Univ. of Wash'n.	60,000	$600,000
Los Angeles, Cal.	50,000	800,000
Ohio State Univ.	50,000	500,000
Chicago Park Bd.	55,000	900,000

Completed Stadia.	Capacity	Cost
Yale Bowl	60,000	400,000
Princeton Stadium	41,000	300,000
Tacoma Stadium	35,000	175,000
Harvard Stadium	50,000	330,000
Circus Maximus	400,000	—

The McGill Stadium has a total seating capacity of 7,664; and, considering the enrollment at McGill, this is a very creditable size. In fact, it has never been filled to capacity yet. If occasion should arise, there is plenty of space for enlargement, but this seems superfluous at the present time.

turning out in anticipation of the meet on Saturday, it is impossible for Coach Van Wagner to give personal attention to each individual. Consequently, the new men will have to look after their own training to a great extent until the Freshman-Sophomore meet is over.

All men who feel that they are in suitable condition to enter trials and who are not competing in the games on Saturday, are asked to turn out for the trials to be held to-morrow afternoon. These will serve to give the coach a line on what material is available for the team.

PROSPECT FOR RUGBY SEASON IS EXCELLENT

McGill-Varsity Game Chief Fixture.

GAME ON NOV. 6th.

M.A.A.A. Team Expected To Meet McGill on Thanksgiving Day.

There will be three big Rugby games held on the stadium in which the McGill senior Rugby squad will be seen. The first to take place will be on Thanksgiving Day, when the M.A.A.A. team will meet the Red and White squad on the stadium in an exhibition match. There was quite a lot of agitation last year in favor of a game between the two teams, as they were respective champions of their leagues, but it was too late in the season, and the game had to be postponed.

However, the teams will clash this season, and all arguments as to their respective merits should be settled. Of course, the clubs will not present the same line-ups as they had last year, but the game will be interesting in any case, and should draw the largest crowd ever seen on the stadium.

The first league game of the season here will be on October 30th, when Queen's travel to Montreal to meet McGill. Nothing is known about the strength of the Presbyterians at the present time, but as McGill will have played in Kingston before that date, every one will have a fair idea of what kind of a game to expect.

Every one interested in Intercollegiate Rugby knows that the Varsity-McGill game is the really big game in Canadian Rugby, and this will take place here on November 6. The Blue and White outfit has not been seen in action, but they are sure to be near the top at the end of the season, and the good tickets for the

ENTERTAINMENT FOR FRESHMEN

McGill Y.M.C.A. To Receive New Students To-Night and Friday At 8 p.m.

The first event of the year of special interest to newcomers is the annual Freshman Reception, to be held this evening in Strathcona Hall. This is all for the benefit of the Freshman, and affords him an excellent opportunity for a good start at college for several reasons. He has a chance to meet his fellows in a social way, both from his own faculty and other faculties. He gets a more intimate knowledge of his professors. Most important of all, he gets a real insight into college life, all preconceived notions are revised and new ideas formed, and a good start-off for the year is given.

The social committee of the Y. M. C. A. have spared no pains to make this reception without a peer in the annals of McGill, and a great programme is assured. Speakers from all the faculties and representatives of the Athletic Association, the Union and the Y.M.C.A. will give short talks on their phase of student activities. These interesting talks will be interspersed with songs and new yells. The McGill songs will be given special prominence and are worth while going a long way to learn. This is the only opportunity of getting acquainted with these songs, so turn out, Freshmen! Lots of good snappy music and popular songs will be indulged in, and the best song-fest of the year is promised.

Remember, Medicine, Arts, Dentistry and Theology are to be received to-night at 8 o'clock. On Friday at the same hour a reception of similar nature will be held for Science, Law and Commerce. This division of the Faculties was rendered necessary by the large enrolment this year, but the quality of the entertainment will be quite equal to that of preceding years, if it does not surpass it.

Most important of all to the young Freshman mind is the feature of the programme that is more intimately connected with the gastronomic senses. Refreshments that would be difficult to equal elsewhere will be provided, and all are assured of an ample share. This last feature is sure to attract a vast host of hungry first year men, so no more need be said on that score.

Besides—a whisper to the Freshman ear, it is unwritten law that Sophomores must keep well away from the Freshmen on that night—so, all up, fellows, for the Freshman Reception!

game always sold a long time in advance of the date of the game.

As far as tickets are concerned, students will be grouped together in the rosters' stand, and these tickets are only sold immediately before the game, but, if any seats are wanted for friends, now is the time to get them.

DR. PERRIN GIVES INAUGURAL SPEECH OF SESSION TO NEWLY ESTABLISHED MUSIC FACULTY Changes Made In the Staff — Outline Of Programme Of Work To Be Carried Out This Session — Importance Of Sight Reading Emphasized.

On Wednesday afternoon, September 29th, the opening address for the session 1920-21 was delivered by Dr. Perrin. Dr. Perrin began his address with the announcement of the Music Department being established into a Faculty. On the staff of the Faculty are: Director, Dr. H. C. Perrin; vice-director, Miss Lichtenstein; Professors of Theory, Mr. Egg and Mr. Duncan McKenzie; Professor of Stringed Instruments, Mr. Brant; Professor of Singing, Dr. Victor Laurent. A few words of welcome to Sir Arthur Currie were then spoken.

This session finds some new members on the staff of the Conservatorium. The loss of Mr. H. Jackson is felt by all, and we all wish him the greatest possible success in his concert tour of Australia. We welcome Dr. Victor Laurent, who, besides having had great experience in teaching singing, has further equipped himself for this by taking the degree of Doctor of Medicine, graduating at the University of Maryland. He took post graduate courses at the Universities of Paris, Berlin and Vienna. Miss Norah Hulm, whose teaching was chiefly confined to the junior department, resigned at the close of the session and returned to England. Her place on the staff will be filled by Miss Ruth Kenwick, who has had considerable experience as a solo pianist and as a teacher.

Mr. Katz, who received the degree of Mus. Bac, last session, has resigned his position on the staff to study violin in New York. Mr. Dunleux will take up the former's duties in the junior department of violin.

It is regretted that Mrs. Stackhouse could not resume her work with us this year. Miss Margaret Bennett is instructing in singing to lady students in the evenings.

Mention was made of the enrolment of students for this year. A new study for the young ladies is being adopted; namely, flute and clarinet. This, although quite new here, is generally accepted abroad.

Dr. Perrin spoke a few words on the work of the next session. Public lectures will be given from time to time, among them two on the voice. Dr. Laurent will be the lecturer on these occasions by special request of Dr. Birkett. The concerts this year will be as before: three orchestral, one staff and three students' recitals. At the first concert, Dvorak's No. 3 Symphony in F will be given. A change in the examination for highest grade was then brought to the notice of the students. Instead of one exam. in May, the paper would be divided: first part, counterpoint and form and analysis; part two, harmony and history. Licentiate performers, final and semi-final, will have an exam. in January in transposition and sight work.

The certificates were then given to the successful candidates in the examinations last term.

Following the presentation of certificates, Dr. Perrin resumed his address: "The reference I made to the necessity of those preparing for Licentiate examinations as performers improving themselves in sight reading, provides me with a text for the few words which I propose to speak today.

"A little boy or girl of ten years of age would be ashamed to confess that he or she could not read ordinary printed matter containing more than one-syllable words, a newspaper or book, without being helped by teacher or parent, but a performer on the piano of eighteen or nineteen, after years of learning music in some form or another, is not ashamed of confessing that he or she cannot read music at sight. A musical periodical recently said in an editorial that the limited repertoires of our amateur and professional musicians are due largely to deficient sight reading, and commends the fact that a certain musical exam. board is rightly placing more emphasis on reading at sight and ear tests for the future. It also says that those two subjects are of primary importance to the musical education of the country, and even still more weight should be attached to them. Although in our own examinations here, ever since they were started, we have insisted on students taking these up, yet we still find too little preparation in evidence in nearly all cases.

"There are certain points of similarity between reading a book with words as the medium of expressing the author's thoughts and an ordinary piece of music, the characters of which convey the composer's thoughts. In the case of the printed book, when seeing it for the first time, the ordinary reader is at once able to grasp the writer's meaning, almost unconsciously and easily; the writer's leading ideas are plainly evident, and the subordinate and explanatory sentences or corollaries are also evident. Of course there are aids to the reader in the shape of capital letters to begin a sentence or paragraph, there are italics to emphasize certain words, there are commas, semi-colons, colons and full stops, which divide sentences and clauses, so helping us to grasp readily what we read. In the majority of musical compositions such aids to a clear understanding, and especially so at first sight or first reading, are not available.

In the older classics, such as Bach and Beethoven, editors of every country have endeavoured to help the student, in some cases putting in so many aids to digestion that the student, bewildered by trying to assimilate them all, gets into the habit of absolutely disregarding these aids. I do not know which is the worst evil—it is well for the student to remember that bar lines do not represent beginnings or endings of phrases. Nor do they always mean that the first note after the bar line is to be always struck forcibly or ferociously. From being helps or aids to keeping time, they are often, in the hands of immature students and incompetent teachers, bad tyrants. They can, however, be our best assistants in grasping the meaning of what we read if properly regarded.

"Now, what I want you particularly to grasp this afternoon is that music of an instrumental nature (i.e., without words) is to be regarded as a product of the intellect as well as the emotions, and as such must be regarded and assimilated by the student. The more the student is equipped with knowledge derived from synthetic, analytic and historic study, the better able he or she will be to interpret profitably and pleasantly, the better able to distinguish between music of a high and music of a low order, between music written by a composer with high ideals and a composer with thoughts on monetary results or cheap popularity. Remember these principles, apply them to musical works by composers of to-day as well as yesterday, to those of the present, as well as past generations. When speaking of those of the past generations, what compositions have escaped oblivion? Only those which contain noble music, which equally stir our emotions and is approved by our intellect.

"During the war, I continually impressed upon those who were engaged in musical work that there were certain composers born in the countries with which we were at war whose works could not be ignored and put on the shelf, because these works formed an intrinsic part of the development of the art of music itself, and indeed it was gratifying to me to find that our policy of giving honorable place to those great musicians while not allowing them to dominate us or neglecting opportunities of introducing works by composers whose birthplaces were either in the British Empire or in one or other of the countries which were in friendly alliance with it, met with general approval. Now that the war is over, I can see no reason to make any alteration of policy.

"The feeling that to avoid the predominance in music of a certain country in future, each and every country must create an environment, an atmosphere stimulating the production of musical compositions by its own sons, is steadily growing—in some countries results are already apparent. The two dangers of parochialism and too great eccentricity have to be avoided. Parochialism because one trait in music which should always be in evidence is universality of appeal, and eccentricity, because evolution is desirable, but revolution is not. Originality is expected of a composer to-day, but his work must grow out of the past and not disregard it. Unity of thought, continuity of ideas, and general balance of design must be present in modern composition, but although they do not preclude the presentation of surprising color effects, curious harmonic combinations, complexities of polyphony, etc., they must condition them so that law and order prevail and are not openly flouted. Upon the foundations of the past must rise those structures of the future which we all hope to see."

In conclusion, Dr. Perrin wished all the students a very successful year.

With the remains of last year's teams to form a strong nucleus, and the promising material on hand, McGill should stand a good chance in the Intercollegiate meet this winter. So, all out, both old and new, at to-night's practice.

TENTH SIEGE BATTERY PUTS UP MEMORIAL

Original Design For Flag Pole Base.

BATTERY RECORD.

Two Captured Guns and Distinction To McGill's Trophies.

That McGill is not forgetful of her war heroes is evidenced by the proposal to erect a memorial to the members of the 10th Canadian Siege Battery (the McGill Siege draft) who fell overseas. The memorial is to take the form of a stone flag-pole base, to be situated at the Stadium. Funds to the amount of $2,500 have already been raised by former members of the battery, assisted by the ladies' committee. It is expected that the memorial, situated probably at the east end of the Stadium, opposite the entrance, will be constructed before winter sets in.

The completed structure, with the flag-pole will be about 60 feet high. It will consist of a flight of granite steps on which will be set a brass socket. Several designs for the socket, submitted by ex-members of the battery, were examined by Professor Nobbs, of the Department of Architecture. The one accepted, slightly changed, consists of the McGill crest combined with the badge of the 10th Canadian Siege Battery. The bronze for the socket, which was specially cast in Belgium, will arrive in Montreal in a few days. On the face of the steps will be engraved the names of those members of the battery who fell in action overseas. An additional feature will be the placing of two captured German guns on the flag-pole base. These guns, of the 77-centimetre Austrian type, were received lately by McGill University from Ottawa, where they have been on view at the Central Canada Exhibition, held there this autumn. Both guns show the effect of buffeting storms on their camouflage paint. On one is the announcement that it was taken in action by the 87th Regiment of Grenadier Guards.

The Battery to whom this monument is to be erected was recruited at McGill in the spring of '17 by Sir Stopford Brunt. Sixty-five of its two hundred members were McGill students, the remainder being friends of the students, with a number of young men preparing for entrance. The battery, which originally was intended as reinforcements, was, on its arrival in England, created into the 10th Canadian Siege Battery. It proceeded to the front as a unit, and in the spring of 1918 first saw service at the front. Heavy action reduced its numbers greatly. As far as can be learned, this battery is the holder of the record of having sent over the greatest number of shells in five hours of any battery in France. A concert party was formed which gained such fame that the Canadian Y.M.C.A. contributed 10,000 francs towards its expenses, that it might continue its entertainment of the forces in France.

All students who wish to play in this match should submit their names together with their handicaps, both match and medal, or an approximation of the same on regulation links, with the name of the links.

The team will be then chosen some days ahead of the date of the match. Names should please be submitted at an early date. The list closes on Monday, October 11th.

NOVEL IDEA TO BE TRIED BY PLAYERS

duction of plays dealing with Canadian life, or written by Canadian authors. Up to the present time such plays have had practically no chance for production in the Dominion.

A striking evidence of this regrettable situation, which the Community Players hope in part to remedy, is afforded by the recent successful production by the Birmingham Repertory Theatre of "The God of Gods," by Mr. Carroll Aikins of British Columbia.

3—to lay the foundation for such a Canadian Theatre as will offer to Canadian actors and actresses the possibility of acquiring and practising their art in their own country and under the direction and control of their own countrymen.

With this ultimate object in view, the committee has decided that any profits accruing from the performance of the coming season shall be devoted solely to the maintenance and expansion of the work thus begun. It has therefore been made a rule that no performance shall be given for charity or for any other external object.

4—to develop locally such concomitant arts and crafts as will be frequently required in the class of productions outlined above; for example, the designing of scenery and costumes, the composition and performance of incidental music, the arrangement of dances, the use and effect of stage lighting, etc.

The Theatre in Europe to-day, as is witnessed by the many national and state-subsidized theatres, plays an important and recognized part in the life of a community.

The Theatre in Canada up to the present time has been to a lamentable extent devoid of any scope or facilities for local initiative in the matter of selective production; the large majority of pieces presented being touring company productions which have their origin outside of the Dominion.

A Theatre, to be of any national value, must be in close and permanent touch with the life of the people. This can only be achieved by the voluntary work and support of all classes of the community, upon such a basis as will be independent of class, creed or racial origin.

The rule concerning catches will follow that of the Intercollegiate Union. Under that ruling a player must be allowed three yards to make a fair catch, but on a bounding ball no yards need be given to make the catch. In the Interprovincial League yards are allowed on all kinds of catches from a punt.

The officials have not yet been chosen for the game, but this will be done within the next few days. It will not be a difficult matter to decide upon, as the same officials are frequently used by both leagues.

Tickets for the game will be placed on sale next Monday, or before that time if possible. $1.50 will be charged for the seats in the four centre sections; for the four sections nearest the centre sections $1.25 will be charged, while four sections of rush seats will go at seventy-five cents.

As a heavy rush is expected for the seats, it would be well for any of the students desiring to get a few of the pasteboards to apply as soon as they are put on sale. Of course, a section will be reserved for the Rooters' Club, but all other seats will be sold to the first comers.

Saturday's "Star" flogging will be moribund at this last!

These are the principles upon which this committee is endeavoring to establish the work of the Community Players of Montreal.

The remainder of the leaflet covers the detail as to tickets and so on, and "beau geste" stuff, including a concession to us hopefuls here at McGill in the way of a rebate of $2.50 on the "civvy" season-ticket of $5.00—which entitles the subscriber to one seat for each of the five productions. Either subscriber receives eventually a set of five coupons which may be exchanged at Chapman's Bookstore, 190 Peel Street, for reserved seats, in advance of the public sale for each effort.

I forgot to mention that, naturally the number of subscription seats for undergraduates at $2.75 is limited, and that remittances to the Community Players should preferably be made by cheque, to the order of P. S. Stevenson, and forwarded to Mr. P. S. Stevenson, Manager, Bank of Montreal, Drummond and Sherbrooke Streets, Montreal.
